

FRAGRANCE	SUPPLIER	A/D/R	TESTER	COMMENTS: Fragrance, sticking, misc.
Sandalwood (Hawaaian)	AHRE			Can't find existing bottle, waiting on sample.
Sandalwood	American Soap Sup.			Three days after: Not at all SW, although a v. good non-evergreen woody scent. Would buy for that.
Antique Sandalwood	Candlec.			Three days after pour: Surprisingly good, true and strong. Similar to Sweet cakes but cheaper.
Sun Warmed Sandalwood	Candle Cocoon			Nice blend. Def. musk notes detract from the woodsiness/trueness, though.
Sandalwood and Clary Sage	DS			Three days after pour: Another good/pleasant blend. Would not consider it an SW scent, though. Def. herbal/anise notes.
Sandalwood (Vanilla)	Elements			Three days after pour: MUCH more vanilla than sandalwood. Would not buy this as a SW.
Sandalwood	Gemlite			Three days after pour: Strong, true. Straight up closest to the real thing. Best in class for me. Also cheapest of all by a considerable margin.
Sandalwood (Sahara)	MMS			Three days after pour: Creamy and sweet, nice but not enough woodsiness.
Sandalwood	NDA			Three days after pour: Meh. Not much of anything.
Sandalwood Extra fragrant	NDA			Three days after pour: Like this, although it is not a straight SW. Lots of floral notes. Pretty strong right now.
Sandalwood	NG			Three days after pour: Not as strong as the best contenders. More sweet and creamy than woody, also doughy/fresh baked bread notes. Nice but not so much SW.
Sandalwood (Indian)	NG			Three days after pour: V. interesting. This was the only one where I smelled green notes. Strong, and like the scent, but not a straight SW.
Sandalwood (Sacred)	NG			Three days after pour: Another good mostly creamy and sweet Mysore type SW. Lacking some sharpness.
Sandalwood (Hawaiian)	OT			Three days after pour: V. fruity. Would not know this was sandalwood w/o the label. Do not like.
Sandalwood (Mysore)	OT			Three days after pour: About as close as you can get to a sweet, Mysore-type SW.

				Missing some sharpness, but very, very good.
Sandalwood (Asian)	Peaks			Three days after pour: Not even that much wood, let alone SW. Also light.
Sandalwood	PFO			Three days after pour: Good balance, w/sweet notes predominating.
Sandalwood Rose	PFO			Three days after pour: Pretty but extremely light and neither strongly sandalwood or rose, prob. Would not work for fans of either.
Sandalwood	SCakes			Three days after pour: Strong. V. true. Good combination of deep/rich/sharp. Maybe not sweet enough for some folks.
Sandalwood (Red Santal)	SLZ			Three days after pour: Good combo of earthy and sweet but not as nice as I remember thinking it was. Poss prob w/the pour here, though, def. separation b/w layers (lots of D in all), it looks like a parfait.
Sandalwood (Madras)	SLZ			Three days after pour: V. nice. Close to real Madras (good combo of sweet/sharp/deep.) Really like this. The most D of all, though.
Sandalwood (Sea Air)	SLZ			Three days after pour: Pleasant and clean, does not seem like sandalwood, more floral/ozone. Also fairly light.
Sandalwood	SOS			Three days after pour: V. light. Shame, this is beautiful, balanced and true (in some ways best combo of woody and sweet notes) but reserve for lotion.
Sandalwood	Symphony Scents			Three days after pour: Failed pour, still soft and sticking to the cup. V. pretty. Not a straight SW, def. floral notes.
Sandalwood	The Candlestore			Three days after pour: Strong. Somewhat perfumey. Not that sandalwoody, but pleasant.
Sandalwood (Oakmoss &S)	WSP			Three days after pour: Extremely nice blend although not a straight SW. Def. keeper for warm unisex woody blend scent type. The best SW blend.
